This is not going to be any set speech, Ladies and Gentlemen, because my impression is considered and considered, is now fairly well set and established in me. Should the a year this opportunity to say a few words. Program directors and sponsors have been very diligent for the past six months. It has been a most pleasant association with you although not at a disadvantage for not having heard from a gentleman named Bob Bell, the institution became known as Roosevelt University.

Bob said here that just as WWII was the outstanding era in New Market during the War Between the States so Selma's boys came and, in fact a group of Roosevelt students rally to the cause when Lee's regiments were marching toward Gettysburg.

All of which has little or nothing to do with this column except to provide a background for the story I first met Mal in the fall of 1937 when I was a freshman at Roosevelt so that time I was an assistant in the physical education department. I was just a freshman myself. But right away you felt that he was really interested in you personally. You felt that a Mal Moser, as well, gave a lecture about Christian living during the freshman orientation week.

In his sermons Mal paraphrased what we thought was a somewhat corny attitude in sports to everyday life. I know you're all familiar with the Mal Moser poem which ends up:

"It's not if you win or lose
But how you play the game."

Mal also used that explanation on the field, coaching a dozen times a year for the next four years in football meant it and his attitude to sport life and sports reflected that positive primary fact. It was a fine thing to see us in a group of young men. Many of those same young men had already had their philosophy strong enough to whip our adversaries in World War II. A few of them didn't return.

It's no true in life as it is in sports. The fellows you meet when you're on the way up may still be there as you come down again. The score of the game may long be forgotten. The winner's name may be lost, but the character and sportsmanship of the players will never die.

Right after the war I was passing through central Pennsylvania in early September. As I neared Lewisburg it occurred to me to stop for a while and walk the familiar paths of my Alma Mater once again. As I neared the chapel I realized that it was freshman week once again and through the open window I heard the voice of everyone's friend, Mal Moser. He was winding up his talk on Christian living. "It's not if you win or lose, but how you play the game."

We know how to cut your meats so they "eat better" . . . how to cure your hams and bacon to a mouth-watering turn . . . how to render your lard so it will be smowy white . . . how to get the most out of every cut of meat for your family.

It's good business to have your locker plant process all your meat for maximum eating pleasure and greatest economy. Remember, for proper processing of foods for storage in a locker or home freezer . . . the locker plant does it best.

AN ELECTRIC WATER SYSTEM WILL HELP YOU:

Produce more food

Shorten work hours

Guard family health

Protect against fire

TODAY, every farm—big or little—is important to America's preparedness program. An adequate electric water system, tailored to your farm's individual needs, is an efficient and economical way to increase production with a minimum of manpower. It can increase your vegetable crops as much as 50%; it can enable your stock to produce up to 20% more meat or gallons of milk; it will help increase egg production!

Add to this important consideration the pleasure, healthfulness and convenience of always having sparkling pure water always on tap in your home—for cooking, cleanliness, laundering. Think how much better your family can live, with running water . . . and it's a "must" for adequate fire protection!

Consult your water systems dealer, or our Farm Service Representative (through your nearest VEPCO office), for information and advice on an automatic electric water system planned especially for YOU!
